Ultimatum by Roosevelt and Churchill Tells Italians They Can Die for Hitler and Mussolini or Live for Italy; Honorable Surrender or Be 'Blasted Out of War' Alternative Offered

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(P)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill today gave Italy her choice—to surrender honorably, or to be blasted out of the war.

Meandering Along the Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

It was interesting to watch traffic at the street intersections where traffic lights are in use, while the power was off and the lights were not working, Tuesday afternoon.

On Court Street there was much delay in attempting to cross, as many drivers failed to realize the power was off and thought one of the three lights would appear any instant to let them know what to do.

Drivers negotiated the crossings slowly from all directions, and so far as I know there were no mishaps.

It reminded me a great deal of the up-town area of Milwaukee which is virtually without traffic lights, or was when I spent a couple of days there two years ago.

In that city the speed limit is closely observed and by reason of no fast driving being permitted, dangers at intersections, without traffic lights, are held to a minimum. Even the taxi drivers are careful of their step in Milwaukee for punishment is prompt and sure.

One really does not know what an aid to traffic the lights are in this city until the lights are not in use. I guess it is just another case of "not missing the water 'til the well runs dry" or something of the kind.

The last remnant of the days of the old narrow gauge railroads through this county is about to be destroyed.

It is an old box car sitting on B. & O. property between the B. & O. and Pennsylvania yards between South North Street and Sycamore Street, and it has been in its present location upward of half a century.

While I was looking the car over Thursday afternoon, after learning that it is to be demolished in the near future, along came Ed Anderson, B. & O. car inspector, who has had charge of the car for the last 32 years.

I had just pointed out the car to Earl Willis, former Fayette County man, who is now a Pennsylvania Freight Train conductor and lives in Lancaster, when Ed came along. Earl had never noticed that the box car was an old narrow gauge one.

Ed said the car, believed to be the last narrow gauge box car in Ohio, was in service on the old C. H. & D. when that road was an infant, was dropped off here when its days of usefulness were over, and has since been used as a tool car.

The old narrow gauge car is 1-2 feet in width and 28 feet in length. It is lightly constructed compared with the present day cars, and had the old link and pin drawbar, also a relic of the past.

Ed unlocked the door and I had the privilege of being inside the ancient car and studying its construction.

Within a short time, under orders issued recently, the old car is to be demolished, taking with it memories of the by-gone days when railroads were more or less in their infancy, and when speed and big loads in freight hauling were practically unknown.

HITLER'S DRIVE IS SMASHED BY RUSSIAN ARMY

Reds Send Germans Reeling Back With Counterattack On Strongest Salient

MOSCOW, July 16.—(P)—A stubborn Russian army that beat off the Nazis' third summer offensive for a full week and then counterattacked to send 10 German divisions reeling, is driving on Orel in a two-pronged assault aimed at toppling that enemy bastion, front line dispatches said today.

In a special communique last night announcing the counteroffensive launched three days ago, the Russians said their swift thrusts north and east of Orel, 200 miles south of Moscow, had resulted in a 28-mile advance that recaptured 110 towns, left more than 12,000 Germans dead and destroyed 109 Nazi tanks, 294 planes and 47 guns besides capturing piles of supplies.

The special bulletin said the column attacking from the north of Orel penetrated 28 miles into the German line to within 18 miles of the Orel-Bryansk Railway and the other column driving from the east had pushed ahead 15 miles on an 18-mile front to within 28 miles of the city.

In the Belgorod area at the southern end of the active front, where the Nazis registered minor gains at the start of their offensive on July 5, the Russians said the Germans threw more men and tanks into the fighting in a renewed effort to crack the Red army's defenses, but declared the attacks had been repulsed.

In attacking the Orel sector, the Russians drove on one of the strongest-defended positions behind the German lines.

Pravda, the Communist party organ, pointed out that the Nazis had spent a year and a half fortifying the area, which was used as the springboard for their seemingly short-lived 1943 offensive.

The break-through at Orel was interpreted by some foreign military observers in Moscow as the end of Hitler's last all-out attempt to defeat Russia.

ITALIANS GIVE UP WHEN GOING TOUGH

WITH AMERICAN INVASION TROOPS ON SICILY, July 12.—(Delayed)—(P)—As German and Italian prisoners streamed to the rear of invading Allied forces on Sicily, Lt. Col. Kenneth Cunin of Alliance, O., summed up the Italian will to fight thus:

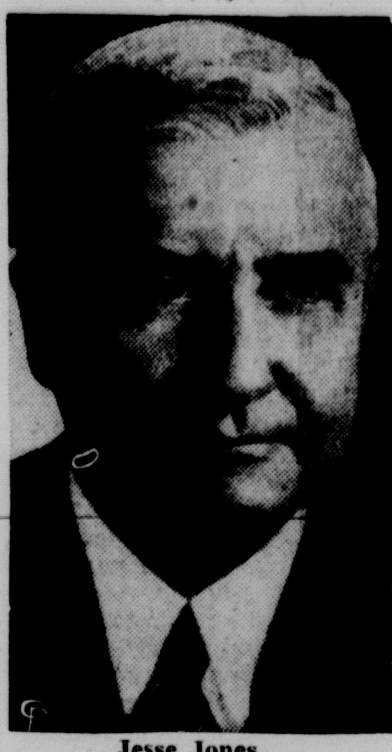

"As long as the Italian is well equipped, as long as he can see you and knows where you are, he will fight like hell. But once you surprise him and get the jump on him or get behind him, he folds up like that."

Col. Cunin snapped his fingers to illustrate.

Both Accept Rebuke Without Argument and Chief Executive Makes Plain Ouster Was No Decision on Who Was Right

By TOM REEDY

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(P)—Sharply denouncing the row between Vice President Wallace and Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones, President Roosevelt stripped both of broad powers and served notice today that anyone else in his official family who feuds in public will be fired.

For almost three weeks, Mr. Roosevelt watched—as he said with surprise—Wallace and Jones slam each other in print over methods of stockpiling strategic war materials.

Last night, in about the same vein that he pronounced "a plague on both your houses," when rival labor unions were warring a few years ago, the president cracked down. In a sweeping order, he:

1—Abolished the Board of Economic Warfare (BEW), of which Wallace was the policy-making head.

2—Took away from Jones' Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC), four major agencies dealing with foreign purchasing.

3—Established a new Office of Economic Warfare (OWE) with Leo T. Crowley, 53-year-old alien property custodian, as the director.

4—Told all administrative officials that any time they disagree with another agency and "feel you should submit it to the press, I ask that when you release the

FATHER DRAFT AGAIN DEFERRED

Childless Married Men and 'Teen-age Youths To Be Called First

By CHARLES MOLONY

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(P)—Most of the nation's fathers will still be in civilian clothes by October, perhaps much longer, say draft officials who are counting on single and childless married men, and the 'teen-age group to meet the armed forces' requirements.

This continued immunity from selective service applies, however, only to those fathers living with and supporting children born before last September 15 and working at jobs outside the non-deferrable list. About 6,500,000 have those qualifications.

This was the draft picture given reporters by Major Emmett Solomon of Selective Service's manpower division yesterday.

The 1,566,000 single and childless married men already classified as available for immediate induction will fill the quotas for July, August and September, although some will win reclassification on appeal and about 40 percent will be rejected and put into class 4-F.

Supplementing this were these factors:

COLUMBUS, July 16.—(P)—Ohio motorists desiring to remove their 1942 license plates to be cleaned and repainted may do so after July 21.

Plates must be repainted with green letters and numerals on a white background, Sours added.

950 Japs Wiped Out At Mubo As Allies Capture Key Base

Meanwhile, Yank Fliers Shoot Down 45 Out of 80 Planes Over Rendova Island With Loss Of Only Three Planes in Spectacular Air Battle

By MURLIN SPENCER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, July 16.—(P)—Outwitting the wily Japanese at his own jungle game of stealing up from behind, American and Australian fighters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur possessed the Mubo gateway to Salamaua today after wiping out 950 surprised defenders in a brilliant New Guinea maneuver.

The abrupt collapse of hill positions bestride which the Japanese for months barred the way along the jungle track leading to their Salamaua air base, 12 miles to the north, was announced in a communique which also recorded a spectacular air victory.

Over Rendova Island in the central Solomons, 45 Japanese planes were shot down out of a formation of approximately 80 while on nearby New Georgia American jungle fighters edged still closer to the enemy's key air base of Munda.

The selfsame tactics the Japanese employed with such bewildering success against the British on their advance upon the Malay peninsula upon Singapore—infiltration to the rear—proved their undoing at Mubo.

On June 30, while the right prong of the present Pacific offensive got under way against Munda, the left prong was established.

Yanks Fight Viciously To Smash Axis Attack In Sicily--Then Go On

By DON WHITEHEAD

(Associated Press correspondent representing the combined American Press)

IN SICILY, July 12.—(Delayed)—(P)—Battling more than 100 tanks with everything but their bare hands, attacking even while being attacked, weary American troops fought for 10 hours yesterday to beat off an enemy drive which threatened to collapse the entire central sector of the American invasion front.

On three sides they fought desperately with their back to the wall. Tanks literally ran over and around them, smashing their way to within 1,000 yards of the beachhead at Gela.

But still the Yanks fought on—and they whipped the enemy. With magnificent courage, three tanks and a few field guns, they whipped the Italians and the Hermann Goering panzer division to a standstill.

Today this veteran American infantry division, toughened by the Tunisian campaign, has the situation in hand.

At one crucial period late yesterday morning, artillerymen were shooting at point blank range over open sights to break up the enemy tank attack. Anti-aircraft guns were dug into position as the troops were digging in on the beach. A colonel was manning an anti-tank gun and staff officers were on the

AKRON WAR PLANTS GO DESPITE STRIKE

Buses and Street Cars Are Still Tied Up

AKRON, July 16.—(P)—Bus and street car service remains at a standstill here today, as a strike of more than 400 CIO operators continues despite a three-side effort to end the stoppage.

The regional war labor board in Cleveland sent a telegram to union leaders calling for an end to the strike, and at the same time, Akron's Mayor George J. Harter conferred with union heads on methods of starting a back-to-work movement.

While the unexpected walk-out at 4 A. M. yesterday paralyzed all mass transportation facilities in Akron, Barberton and Cuyahoga Falls, major war industries reported only slight increases in absenteeism and said production was not curtailed.

Baby Carrier's Planes Sink Subs After Convoy

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(P)—In a series of anti-submarine battles in the North Atlantic, the planes of a single baby aircraft carrier recently successfully attacked ten German submarines, definitely destroying two and probably destroying eight others, and delivered two convoys safely across the Atlantic to American forces poised for actions against Hitler Europe.

The story of the gallant little flat top, officially designated only as "Carrier B," was told by the Navy today in a detailed account of how these auxiliary floating

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 16.—(P)—The hard-punching British Eighth Army was reported within 15 miles of Catania in a northward surge up the Sicilian coast today after falling upon two German armored divisions and severely mauling them.

Allied headquarters announced the capture of 12 more towns, as Americans, British and Canadians advanced all along their moon-shaped front and more than 20,000 prisoners were in Allied hands when Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's veterans administered another whipping to the Hermann Goering and 15th German armored divisions.

The American Seventh Army of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., seizing a number of towns on the western sector, some of them of the greatest strategic importance, had taken nearly 16,000 of the prisoners.

This time Montgomery fell upon the Germans north of Lentini, where the Axis had gathered important armor for a strong counterattack, and smashed them back.

Observers believed the enemy had staked his all on counter-attack.

With an "appreciable number of tanks" already in Sicily, observers were confident the German tank forces would be dealt with, and that thereafter the enemy would be obliged to fight a defensive rearguard action while conducting a withdrawal from the island.

The Axis appeared powerful to keep the Allied fleet in check as it gave strong seaward support to Montgomery's right flank and bombarded the enemy's coastal positions at will.

Another hot struggle also was reported inland about 25 miles from the east coast at Vizzini, one of the newly captured towns.

With the immediate prize of Catania, half way up the east coast, near at hand, the veterans of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery were said by today's communique from Allied headquarters to have "made further progress against German troops who desperately contested every inch of the ground."

(The Rome radio, in a broadcast recorded in London, said "the real and true decision for the island will be reached in a new battle which has already virtually started in the Catania plain.")

"Severe losses were inflicted upon the enemy" by the American Seventh Army of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., which "advanced several miles across difficult hill country and captured further important positions," the communique added.

Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., commander of the Seventh Army, told his men in an order of the day just before they hit Sicily's beaches to attack "rapidly, ruthlessly, viciously, without rest. 'Keep punching. God is with us, we shall win,' the order concluded.

U. S. troops have captured 15,992 prisoners, headquarters announced, and heavy losses have been inflicted on armored units of the German Hermann Goering divisions.

Strong naval forces supported the British advance and their guns blasted again at Catania airfield.

NO USE BEEFING ABOUT BEEF IS VIEW OF M'CANN

Cattle Being Held Back On Western Ranges Is Belief

In connection with the beef shortage which has been felt in this city in recent weeks, as well as in most other parts of the nation, L. P. McCann, extension specialist in the animal husbandry department, Ohio State University, declares that "beefing about beef will not help the present shortage of meat."

McCann believes cattle are being held back on western ranges and that packers are taking cattle for slaughter which ordinarily would go into feed lots for fattening.

Local butchers are limited on the amount of their kill, and this, with other restrictions has resulted in the shortage here.

The view is expressed that Ohio cattle feeders have considerable doubt about present and the future cattle situation. In buying feeders now, they would have to compete with the bids of packers for the same cattle and, in consequence, prices for stockers and feeders are too high to allow a desirable margin between the purchase price and the probable receipts from sales of finished cattle.

McCann says one guess is about as good as another in the present beef cattle situation. Each farmer who feeds cattle will need to inventory his available pasture and his feed supplies and decide whether or not stockers and feeders will be a profitable market for feed.

TROUBLE ON HIGHWAYS DEPUTY TAKES HAND

When a resident of the Circleville road, some four miles from this city, notified Deputy Sheriff Otto Reno Thursday forenoon, that a boy had been roughly handled by three men in a truck, the deputy drove out and brought the four in for questioning.

It appeared that the boy, Charles Gray, of Chillicothe, was employed with a gang of pipeline workers, and because of his age they insisted they should be responsible for taking him home, when he did not want to go home. This resulted in the trio forcibly placing him in a truck every time he sought to escape.

No charges were filed and the four were released.

astation of war home to the Italian people.

They added that they were determined, however, to "destroy the false leaders and their doctrines which have brought Italy to her present position."

The release of the joint statement, which followed several informal invitations in recent months that Italy get out of the war, was the signal for a propaganda drive which included the dropping of thousands of leaflets on Italy by Allied bombers in addition to beaming the message to the people of Italy by radio.

Asserting that German's hopes for world conquest "have been blasted on all fronts," the joint statement declared the skies over Italy are dominated by vast Allied air armadas and Italy's coasts are threatened "by the greatest accumulation of British and Allied seapower ever concentrated in the Mediterranean."

They added:

"Every moment that you resist the combined forces of the United Nations—every drop of blood that you sacrifice—can serve only one purpose; to give the Fascist and Nazi leaders a little more time to escape from the inevitable consequences of their own crimes."

The 600-word message concluded:

"The time has now come for you, the Italian people, to consult your own self respect and your own interests and your own desire for a restoration of national dignity, security and peace. The time has come for you to decide whether Italians shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or live for Italy and for civilization."

DRIVING TOO FAST, FINED $15 AND COSTS

Burl Hall, 38, pipeline worker, doing 60 miles or better, according to K. C. Barton, Highway Patrolman, was picked up after a chase of several miles, Friday and taken before Judge S. A. Murry, where he was fined $15 and costs on a speeding charge.

The patrolman nearly wrecked his motorcycle in trying to keep up with Hall on a gravelled highway, he stated.

Trembling Degenerate Held Under $5000 Bond To Grand Jury Monday

Shaking like a leaf in a strong wind, apparently greatly frightened and deeply worried, Ralph Frank Seilacher, 42, who says he is a piano player from Cincinnati, pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful assault with intent to rape, when arraigned before Police Judge S. A. Murry Friday morning, and was held for the Fayette County grand jury without bond. He was not represented by an attorney.

John F. Browning, father of little Barbara Browning, aged 10, who police say was the intended victim of Seilacher, filed the affidavit against him and was in police court when Seilacher was brought in to answer the charge.

Within a few minutes of the time that the Cincinnati man had made his plea County Prosecutor John B. Hill had set in motion the machinery for calling a special session of the Fayette County grand jury to meet Monday at 9 A. M. to consider this and any other cases which have accumulated since the last session. "This is a serious matter," said Hill in commenting on the action, "and we intend acting promptly to show that this kind of criminal act which is happening all too frequently over the country, will not be tolerated in Fayette County."

When Seilacher was brought into police court Friday morning, he was a sorry figure. As he was seated before Judge Murry he glanced about and seemed to sense the hostile feeling of the small group of men present. He especially avoided looking at the father of the little girl whom he was accused of attacking.

Judge Murry, fixing the prisoner with a cold glance, asked him his name and after he admitted his identity, the charge against him was read. Asked how he pleaded, Seilacher seemed to have difficulty in finding his voice and then said, "I didn't harm the girl."

Judge Murry explained that the charge of assault was lawful if he so much as "touched, threatened or menaced the child." "You did seize her by the arm, didn't you?" he asked. The prisoner admitted he did.

"Well then, how do you plead?" he was asked.

"Guilty," was the answer.

At this point Judge Murry leaned forward and said, "You have no attorney here and I do not wish to take advantage of you, but I must fix a bond. In my judgment there is no bond severe enough in a case like this except one which I have no authority to invoke. You are held to the grand jury without bond." Then turning to Captain of Police Ellis, he said "Get him out of here." Seilacher was immediately conducted to a special cell on the upper floor of the city prison.

Later bond was fixed at $5,000 because of legal technicalities, the court explained. Unable to furnish bond, the prisoner was sent to the county jail.

A few moments later a Re-station where the Pitzer child had sought help and had been temporarily gone, returned in the meantime and also hurried to the Browning home right after Burton and helped bring Seilacher back to the station where City Manager Ducey, Patrolman Haggard and Maynard Craig, who had answered the police call, took charge of the man.

The Fayette County grand jury, which has been recalled to consider this and possibly other cases, next Monday, is composed of the following:

Vera Veail, Harry Hays, George Trimmer, Robert Sanderson, Floyd Wilt, Trox Farrell, Richard Willis, Jane Hart, Verna Osborn, W. R. Everhart and Sam Renick, all of Washington C. H.; Elmer Davis, Jasper Township; Harry Sollars, Point Township; Wilda Korn, Jefferson Township and Roscoe Shasteen of Concord Township.

AXIS FACING CRISIS ON SICILY AS ALLIES DRIVE FOR SHOWDOWN

bulletin said the "speed of the advance is very satisfactory." It called attention to the limiting factor of Allied transport and supporting weapons at this stage of the operations.

The reorganized Hermann Goering tank division of the Germans had suffered heavy losses in attempting to oppose the British push toward Catania, headquarters reports said, but the German 15th armored division was known to be in reserve.

However, observers expressed the opinion that the enemy, with only limited and doubtful forces at his disposal, had staked most of his resources in this effort to hold the Allies south of Catania and that his defenses were disintegrating.

They expressed confidence that with "an appreciable number of tanks" already in Sicily the Allies would be able to deal satisfactorily with any counter-attack the enemy might mount.

In addition it was said Allied air-borne and sea-borne reinforcements were likely to arrive, and strong naval forces continued to support the British right flank from the sea.

In their latest action, Allied warships again shelled Catania, and a destroyer accounted for another enemy motor torpedo boat.

Taking of Vizzini put the British astride the central highway connecting the Axis' eastern and western front. Vizzini is on the slopes of the Iblei mountains and about 25 miles west of Augusta.

Meanwhile, the overpowering air strength of the Allies was thrown afresh into a series of paralyzing blows, both at the Italian mainland and Sicily itself.

An assault in the last 24 hours on Naples, comparable to the previous day's strike at Messina, turned a two-mile long, mile wide waterfront area of the biggest Italian port city into a smoking inferno.

This was after bombers hit the port Wednesday night, attacking airdromes, docks and railway facilities, and after unescorted Flying Fortresses had continued the assault by daylight.

Palermo docks also were severely pounded by medium bombers during the day, and Paterno, a focal point of enemy communications, came in for a heavy blow by night.

Meanwhile, approximately 70 Liberators from the Middle East were said in a United States communiqué to have "made a flaming shambles of the main and two satellite" airfields at Foggia on the spur of the Italian boot.

Flying in three waves, the Liberators dropped nearly 400,000 pounds of high explosives, fragmentation and incendiary bombs, covering parts of the main airfield with bursts, and burning at least 30 planes at all three airdromes.

The Liberators also started huge fires in wooded areas.

Four-engined RAF Halifaxes from the Middle East continued the assault on Messina Wednesday night, finding fires still raging that had been set in the previous 24 hours.

In a steady attrition of enemy shipping, Allied planes torpedoed a large merchant ship off the north coast of Sardinia, and severely damaged at least three others.

Well in advance of the rolling Allied troops British and American air-borne and parachute forces swooped from the skies to knock out centers of enemy resistance and pave the way for the oncoming tank and infantry units.

beach to see that ammunition and guns kept coming ashore.

Even the navy joined in with its big guns to help stop the enemy drive.

"In my opinion it was the greatest exhibition of guts and discipline in the history of the American army," said Lieut. Col. Curtis of Amarillo, Texas.

While we were under constant attack, the commanding general sent a message to our troops: "We attack tonight."

He was confident the enemy would be stopped and knew that this was the psychological moment to strike back.

By nightfall our regiment had only nine rounds of mortar ammunition left, and the enemy was returning to the attack on both flanks, but our troops carried up ammunition under machinegun and shell fire. Then in the moonlight they attacked.

Most of our troops had had They had suffered from sea-sickness on the rough trip en route to Sicily. They had fought across the Sicilian beaches and trudged doggedly up ridges in the face of enemy fire. They had had nothing to eat for two days except hard rations.

Despite all this they attacked, and by dawn one regiment had captured Ponte Olivo airport five miles north of Gela and another had driven nearer to Nisicemi.

The invasion beachhead in the central sector is safe.

FIVE PERCENT INCREASE TO BE MADE ON LANDS

Small Increase Announced Following Meeting of Appraisers

Fayette County farm lands are to be increased on a basis of five percent by the appraisers of real estate who are now starting out to make a reappraisal of all real estate in the county.

This increase was announced by County Auditor Ulric T. Acton, following a meeting of appraisers held at the Courthouse Wednesday afternoon.

In some of the surrounding counties increases in valuation are being made up to 15 percent, according to reports, so that the increase decided upon for Fayette County is regarded as a conservative one.

At the meeting general instructions were issued and blanks distributed to the appraisers.

Auditor Acton announced that Joe Alleman had been named appraiser for Bloomingburg.

No work has been started in this city, and only a few of the appraisers have been selected, Acton said.

WALLACE AND JONES FIRED AS PRESIDENT DENOUNCES FEUDS IN ADMINISTRATION

statement for publication, you send to me a letter of resignation." Minor officials who violate this are to be dismissed by their superiors, promptly, the president added.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized he was not deciding who was right in the battle which flared into the open June 29 and grew hotter day by day.

The president, in letters to Wallace and Jones, said there wasn't time in the midst of war to find out "where the truth lies" in such matters. The important thing, he wrote, was to "clear the decks and to get on with the war at once . . . a fresh start with new men, unencumbered by inter-agency dissension and bitterness."

Both principals accepted the president's rebuke without argument.

Wallace commented: "In wartime, no one should question the overall wisdom of the commander-in-chief."

Said Jones:

"I concur most heartily in the president's determination to have harmony and cooperation. . . . The (new) director will find the affairs of all RFC agencies in foreign purchases in excellent condition . . . functioning with a maximum of efficiency and at a minimum of expense."

Jones pledged cooperation to Crowley whom he described as the best qualified man for the job.

Crowley himself had nothing to say, except to accept the assignment.

FATHER DRAFT DEFERRED AGAIN AT LEAST UNTIL AUTUMN, IS LAST REPORT

1. At least 50,000 youths who become 18 each month can be counted upon with certainty to land in uniform. An even greater number of the total of 90,000 reaching that age monthly may prove inductible.

2. An indefinite number will be "recovered" from the pool of 2,976,000 men rejected before because of physical, mental, educational or moral disqualifications.

3. Many of the 705,000 single and childless married men now holding occupational deferment for farm work are likely to be called by local boards after the harvest season ends.

4. Occupational deferments for non-agricultural work expire constantly and most of this group of 1,000,000 are single or childless married men.

On the other hand, it was said, only unexpected developments can continue immunity for fathers throughout a prolonged war.

The armed forces already have a strength of 9,300,000 men and women and, though casualties thus far have been considerably below the allowance made for them in military plans, the officially projected size of the armed forces is 10,800,000 by the end of this year and 11,300,000 by the middle of next year, largely as the result of naval expansion.

We Stand Squarely for the Best Interest of the Citizens of Washington C. H. and Fayette County.

OTHERS ARE HELPING

While it is of the big nationally known contractors that we hear when planes, ships, tanks and guns are under discussion and the subject of praise, too often we neglect to give credit to some of the smaller plants which are giving much aid in producing parts or other material for the larger establishments, without which, the records made by these bigger concerns would be impossible.

Here in Washington C. H. we have plants that are contributing to this end. Some are doing a heavy volume of such work, others less. All, which have sub-contracts, are doing everything possible. For example the Aeronautical Products, Inc., at present the city's largest manufacturer, is putting out a huge volume of small airplane parts. Others which are producing products on special government contracts are the Cudahy Packing Company, the Jackson Glove Company, Coffman Stair Company, Morton Show Cases Inc., Willis Lumber Company, which has produced some special timbers for the U. S. Navy, The Washington Bronze and Aluminum Company and perhaps one or two other local institutions.

We are proud of the way the American economy has responded to war demands and here in Fayette County, we have a right to be proud of what many of our local industries are doing to help. Also food produced by the farmers and stock raisers of this county are one of the big factors not to be overlooked.

Behind the giant corporations, making possible their almost incredible feats, stands scores of thousands of relatively small, little publicized sub-contractors, from whose plants, large and small, pour endless supplies of gadgets and what-nots. This is emphasized by a recent survey in which General Motors Corp., perhaps the greatest of the prime contractors, found that it was depending for material and parts upon 18,735 smaller concerns—its partners in production.

INFLATION WORRIES

It is easy to make inflation sound complicated—which it is—and difficult to cut through to the heart of the problem without being superficial and giving erroneous impressions. But laymen, who include most of us, cannot understand the jargon of economists. We have tried, and usually find ourselves more confused in the end than at the beginning.

We must start, always, at the beginning. This is the fact that there is more money in the hands of consumers now than ever before, but there are less goods to be bought than before.

Ordinarily, when the supply of money exceeds that of goods, prices begin going up. That attracts new production until there are goods enough for everybody—and eventually too many goods, which starts prices down again.

Such natural action and reaction are impossible at present because the manufacturing capacity which normally would produce goods to satisfy excess demand has been tied up in war production.

We have, then, an estimated $45,000,000,000 more of money in the hands of consumers available for the purchase of goods, than there will be goods for

Enough Is Plenty

GREAT FALLS, Mont.—Charles T. Rice jokingly offered his two grandsons, 11 and 12 years old, five cents a dozen for all the potato bugs they picked from plants in his small potato patch. Hints on Etiquette

In these days, when so many people are working long hours and often at night, be sure you are quiet in your home life. Do not slam doors, shout at the family or neighbors, and if you have the radio on, keep it low.

Today's Horoscope

If this is your birthday, this is a powerful aspect for initiative and exploration. Even at night there is need of executive leadership and self-reliance. Get up early this morning in a pleasant mood, to make things happier for yourself and others. Do not make an unwelcome remark this evening that can be exaggerated into a deliberate gossip. It might hurt your reputation to be involved, even indirectly, in a neighborhood scandal. Yours is a strong, forceful personality. You are very capable. You are dogmatic in your opinions and impatient with those who disagree with you. Be less critical of others. Cultivate gentleness and show more attention to your loved ones.

which to spend it. That is the treasury estimate for the 12-month period that began July 1.

With money in their pockets, consumers go to market able and willing to pay high prices for anything they need and want. No system of price fixing and rationing can be sufficiently broad and well enforced to keep prices down under such circumstances.

The program administered by the OPA is designed to prevent price inflation, arising out of this pressure of too much money by the simple expedient of stopping the auction—controlling the quantity of the scarcer items which may person can buy, and limiting the price that he can pay for it. Unfortunately, in the beginning, the government failed to do a good job of sound planning and this has caused much of the trouble which has arisen.

The OPA plan looks simple and workable. So did national prohibition, in 1920. It is simple, but probably is not workable. The proof is in the high and ever-mounting cost of most available items; the desperation with which new stratagems are pulled out of the hat almost weekly; the continual changes of machinery and personnel; a general public feeling that nobody in Washington knows what it is all about, which breeds disrespect for OPA regulations and attempts, too often successful, to evade them.

Rationing and price ceilings are helping a little, but they haven't solved the problem of inflation.

THE DIFFERENCE

A Chinese, asked why his people, with their superior numbers, had not overwhelmed the Japanese long ago, replied: "We study and revere our philosophers, who lived by seeking truth. The Japanese honor their samurai, who live by their sharp swords."

Of the two the Japanese sound at first the more practical. But are they in the long run? If they are, all the lessons of good conduct taught in our homes and churches will have to be revised.

Cancer Delays Costly

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE MEDICAL profession has been preaching for nearly fifty years that the great majority of cancerous growths are curable if steps are taken early. One would

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

I am not surprised that delay occurred in a large number of cases of cancer of the stomach and of the large bowel. These begin so insidiously that I have known a number of doctors who succumbed to them simply because there were no early symptoms.

Reasons for delay were: The patient did not consider the symptoms serious enough. This occurred in more than one-half of cases. Pure negligence accounted for 11 per cent of delays, expense for 10 per cent, fear of cancer, 1 per cent, fear of doctors, 1 1/2 per cent, treatment by cultists or those who promised non-operative treatment, 1 1/2 per cent.

In another group of cases the condition is apparently more or less generalized from the beginning. I judge that this happens in about 5 per cent of all cases belonging to such groups as those we call sarcoma in children. In another group of true cancers there is apparently some change in the body chemistry which absolutely dooms the patient to recurrence of spread by the blood and lymph stream, and these are more or less hopeless. But in 90 per cent of cases the condition is local from the beginning and could be cured by early treatment. In this group belong most cases of cancer of the skin and of the breast; as shown in the statistics given above. Doctors are seldom responsible in this class of cases.

Most of these growths on the skin can be removed by the X-ray or by radium, entirely painlessly, and with no hospitalization.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. B.: Please discuss diverticulosis in your column. What causes it and is there a cure for it? Does it often become malignant?

Answer: A diverticulum is a pouching out of mucous membrane. When several of these occur, it is known as diverticulosis. The place where they are found most frequently is the lower bowel. They can be treated successfully. Occasionally they become malignant.

Leave My Heart Alone

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

KAREN BELL, wealthy and lovely, has been the sweetheart of another member of her rich Florida set. PAUL WYATT, since childhood. However, she surprisingly encounters a young stranger, obviously not of her social standing, and learns that he is MARTIN HALIDAY.

YESTERDAY: After agreeing that Paul and she should marry, Karen and her father continue their discussion. Jim Bell reveals that he has received a cablegram from Denise, Karen's sister.

CHAPTER SEVEN

A CABLEGRAM from Denise—Karen's her—leaped, then contracted with something akin to fear as she took the yellow sheet her father handed to her. It might be bad news, instead of good, for they knew that that small Balkan country, where Denise had gone to make her home, stood in the path of Hitler's relentless war machine, although as yet it had not been attacked. It was so seldom that they had any news, good or bad.

Once before a cable had been received at the birth of Denise's son; again, a few years later, when this same little boy, named after his grandfather, James Bell Durfee, had lain at death's door, stricken with a mysterious fever; another, months later, saying that the child was on the road to recovery.

With such scant information regarding the life that Denise led so many miles across the sea, it was no wonder that Karen was apprehensive, although she knew whatever news this message contained must bear some gladness if it must, at the same time, bring a wave of sadness, too, for how could she or her father be reminded of Denise without the old sorrow sweeping over them?

Again the message was about Denise's son, no word concerning herself. It simply stated that she was sending the boy home, passage having been secured on a refugee ship bringing other children to America. It gave the approximate time of the ship's expected arrival.

So much and yet so little; there was nothing to say what had led to this sudden decision. Yet one thing was significant; there was no question as to what the boy's welcome would be or if his grandfather would take care of him. And Denise had said she was sending him "home."

"I thought at first I'd keep it as a surprise for you when the little fellow got here," Jim said, his voice still husky. He saw that for a moment she could not speak, for Karen's eyes were brimming with tears as she handed the message back to him. He knew they were the same mixture as his own emotions, joy and sorrow. "But when you told me your big news I decided to spring mine on you. Think of it, chickadee, my grandson, Denise's boy. Now you know what I meant by an addition to our household!"

"I'm glad you told me," Karen said. She did not know why she should feel so choked up, unless it was because the surprise was almost too much for her. "It's wonderful news, dad. Almost too wonderful to take in all at once. How old do you suppose he is? What do you suppose they call him? Will it be Little Jim and Big Jim from now on? Do you suppose he looks like Denise?"

She asked these questions to try to smooth over the intensity of the moment, not because she expected him to know the answers. But they would know soon. That was the wonderful part. That silent war separating Denise from her family would be removed. Perhaps a new one, of forgiveness and understanding, would slowly grow to take its place.

"We'll know all those things when we see the lad," Jim Bell had to give his nose a hard blow or he would have tears stinging his eyes also. It had been almost too much, as Karen had said, for him. "I'm flying to New York next weekend," he added. "The day after the Festival. I ought to return with the boy within a few days, if the ship docks on schedule."

Karen wondered if he was thinking as she was—if the boat docks—for of course it would be a dangerous voyage. He must be a brave little boy, this unknown nephew of hers, to undertake such a long, perilous journey, although there were hundreds of other little children facing that same ordeal. It must have taken courage for Denise to send him, courage and heart break. "Can't I go with you?" she asked. Someone ought to be with her father at such a time.

But he refused her offer. I'll have other things to attend to while I'm there, business matters, and I thought I might ask Paul to accompany me. In fact, my dear, I'd rather you were here, waiting for us. I want you, personally, to oversee the nursery quarters, the rooms you and Denise used when you were young 'uns. Cousin Ellen would toss out most of the old toys and furnishings as 'junk,' while you will know what to discard and what to hold onto. We must make this 'home' to the lad." He had to blow his nose again, as he finished.

"It will be," Karen said. They would do everything in their power to make the little boy happy. If Paul went with her father she would be satisfied. How nice it was that her father knew he could call upon Paul; it proved that he thought of him already as a son. Karen would probably have to rely on Paul's help, too, for she did not know much about little boys.

"Goodness, so much was happening all at once! It was like an avalanche, so many changes, when she had thought she did not want any."

"Well, I'll run along," Karen said, giving her father one more tight squeeze before she left him. "I know you want to pretend to get busy. In fact, there's Jane now, armed with pad and pencil and that determined glint in her eye." Jane Peters was another distant cousin who lived in the big house and who served as Jim's secretary. "And I have a million things to do myself."

"Don't try to do them all today," her father advised, the old twinkle returning to his eyes. "Pretend, indeed—you are a sassy miss! I'll have you know your father really has to use his gray matter these days, with the market rising and falling like an old tug on a high sea and the government threatening to tax us for ever, cent of profit."

"You have to have something to grumble about," Karen returned in her old teasing tone. "Good morning, Jane. . . . don't let Jim tax his gray matter too much, for I'm going to beat him at golf this afternoon at three. If I can spare the time, that is. If not, I'll send Paul to take you on for me, darling."

She blew him a kiss and closed the door of the study behind her. He was as strict about his hours, from nine until two at his desk, as if he were paid for them. But maybe he did have a lot on his mind, poor dear, with the business world and the government in such a turmoil.

Certainly Karen now had a lot on her mind. There was the Festival next week, the nursery rooms to oversee, the arrival of Denise's son, shopping that must be begun for the trousseau she supposed she would have to start getting ready, all the parties that would be given as soon as her engagement was known. Heaven! She would be kept in a whirl for the next few months. Then if her wedding took place after the holidays that would be another merry-go-round. But as Jim had said, she could not do them all in one day, or even think about them at all at once.

She was glad she had made a resolution to get up for an early dip and swim, and to breakfast afterwards, with her dad. It might be a good idea to resolve further to devote her mornings to the things that had to be done, to work out a set schedule. She supposed there should be a schedule with a little boy in a house. That would make a big difference in lots of ways.

For the first time in her life Karen realized that so far her existence had been a pretty aimless one. She had gotten up whenever it suited her, going to bed according to her mood as well; she had drifted from one pastime to another, partying, basking in the sun, swimming, golfing, dancing, a continuous round of play and pleasure. Oh, she had had certain interests and duties connected with various socially-guided charitable organizations, as had all the girls in her set. But they had been part of the fun, too, never in any sense a serious obligation or burden.

From now on, life would be more in earnest. She would try to charter a more worthwhile course. She would have to put her girlhood behind her with the formal acknowledgment of her betrothal. Soon she would not be a girl, but a wife!

There was another jolt, but she supposed it was one every girl got at contemplating such a big change ahead. No doubt every girl got jittery, but she was luckier than most in that she was going to marry Paul, who was so near and so dear. Just the same, she would not think that far ahead just yet.

DECAYING POTATOES SOLD FOR SALVAGE

COLUMBUS, July 16—(AP)—The Federal Food Distribution Administration said today 211,500 pounds of potatoes would be sold for salvage because part of them had decayed in transit to an Athens, Ohio, storage plant.

E. H. Bagley, assistant marketing specialist for the FDA here, said the spoilage ran about 10 percent in 1200 of the 100-pound bags, and 2 to 3 percent in 915 bags.

The FDA bought the potatoes in North Carolina to help relieve a temporary surplus and intended to store them for future use by the armed forces or for civilian distribution, Bagley explained.

In addition there were special courses this spring in farming and ranching where coeds learned to take the place of the traditional Wyoming "hired hand," a 1943 combination model of cowboy and farmer.

"The girls were 'exposed' to a first state to grant women suffrage (1869), but one of the last remaining states with more men (135,055) than women (115,687). We hope by introducing them to this work they become interested and perhaps will apply for summer jobs as ranch hands," says Prof. S. H. Dadisman of the vocational department.

"This spring the girls studied gardening, how to deal with and take care of farm animals, how to deal with wild animals and rodents, how to care for poultry and how to care for crops. Specifically they learned how to handle and hitch horses, how to run a tractor, how to plow, etc."

More than 100 girls attended classes on the huge prairie farm of the university near Laramie last spring and about 100 coeds, with and without farm experience, took out-of-doors jobs, says Dadisman. This spring the number was doubled.

Bums' Rush Is On in Brooklyn As Housecleaning Continues

By JUDSON BAILEY.
(By The Associated Press)

The Bums' rush is on in Brooklyn for fair and this time the heaveho is about to go to Joseph Michael (Muscles) Medwick, the once celebrated outfielder whose usefulness to the Dodgers, like that of Louis Norman (Bobo) Newsom, apparently has come to an end.

When the ball club left New York last night for a three weeks trip away from the stormy scene of insurrection at Ebbets Field, Medwick was left at home. Although the maneuver was shrouded in mystery by club officials, no mirrors were needed to see behind the veil of Branch Rickey's housecleaning.

Having moved to wipe out the rebellion Under Manager Leo Durocher by trading Newsom to the St. Louis Browns for two antiquated pitchers, Fritz Ostermueller and Archie McKain, Rickey has 26 players on his roster, one over the limit, and was compelled to get rid of another man.

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, July 16—(AP)—A recent visitor to these precincts was Mrs. Violet Jean McClatchey, an attractive and very earnest young woman from Bartlesville, Okla., by way of South Orange, N. J., who stopped to put in a few good words for the common copper cent, the reason that Mrs. McClatchey thinks so highly of cents is that when 200,000 women bowlers start contributing them, they mount up to a good many pretty pennies, and as chairman of the War Service committee of the Women's International Bowling Congress, Mrs. M. wants to keep the pennies, nickels and dimes pouring in. She also is interested in giving her favorite sport full credit for its war contributions.

Last year the W.I.B.C. bought a bomber plane for the air forces, and "adopted" its crew, thereby giving Capt. William Chum and Sgt. William Morehead something of an advantage over sailors who have only one girl in every port. "Miss W.I.B.C." already has been in action and recently returned to Dayton, O., for a checkup. The girls found they had some money left over, so they bought an ambulance which will be presented to the Army soon, probably at Columbus, O. They're not setting any quotas for their contributions during the coming pin season, but they expect to pay for "one or more" ambulance planes at $80,000 each.

Impressive as these figures look, what really stirs Mrs. McClatchey's enthusiasm is the fact that a large part of the money comes from pennies dropped in the "kitty" for misses, splits, etc., during bowling matches. One of her favorite novelties is putting a yellow pin in each pit—"they call it the Jap pin. Well named, don't you think?"—and collecting a cent for every time it is left standing on the first ball.

In addition to contributing to small change, the women bowlers are doing such things as knitting for the Red Cross—you'll see them working with their needles while waiting their turns at the pins, writing letters to service men and women, including nearly 500 members of the W.I.B.C. in the services.

Methodists Given Win by Moore Team

The Methodists won a close game, by a 6 to 5 score, Thursday night in the Recreation Softball League from the Moore Store team with a big sixth inning in which three runs were walked in. The Moore team led in the first inning, 1-0, and scored two more in the first half of the second. The Methodists tied up the score in the last half of the second when two hits and two walks gave three men a round trip. The Moore boys got their other two runs in the third and fourth innings. They then led by a score of 5-3 which they kept until the last half of the sixth when they changed pitchers. The new pitcher walked six men and the other three who came to bat popped out for the three outs. The bases were loaded after the fourth man had come up and were loaded then until the end of the inning. By virtue of the six walks, three runs were sent across the home plate, and all of them had walked the entire way around the bases. This then gave the Methodists the lead which they kept during the first half of the seventh thus winning the game, 6-5.

Reds Blanked By Cubs -- Get Only 4 Hits

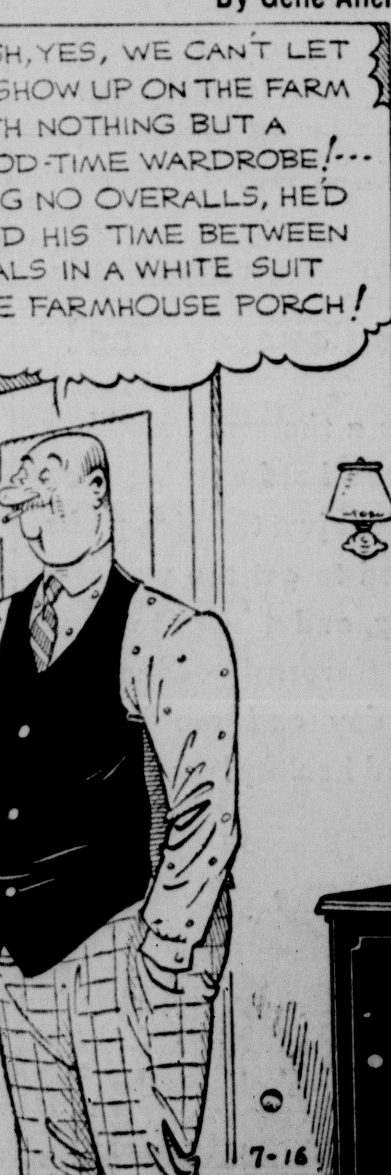

CINCINNATI, July 16—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs may be no great shakes of a ball club this year, but they share in the National League's barrel of white-wash earmarked for the Cincinnati Reds.

With Hiram Bithorn pitching four-hit ball and his mates banging out hits and runs as they pleased, the Cubs doused the Reds, 8 to 0, last night for the Reds' tenth shutout of the year.

Elmer Riddle, Clyde Shoun, and Joe Beggs, mainly the first two, were the suffering victims of the Cubs' pounding. Riddle, seeking his 12th victory, got no one out in the third inning. The Cubs, however, got four men in, and Phil Cavarretta, who had knocked two runs in with a triple, scored the fifth on Bill Nicholson's fly as soon as Shoun took over. Four singles preceded Cavarretta's hit.

Nicholson wound up the Chicago scoring handsomely in the eighth inning. Ed Stanky singled and Cavarretta walked and then

Smith Mare Comes Back In 2:14 Trot

Ernie Smith had the only Fayette County representative in the Grand Circuit racing at North Randall Thursday evening, and while he was far back in the rack with Millie Aubrey in the first two heats of the 2:14 trot, he made a comeback with her in the last heat to finish second. Highlawn Morning, far the best of the field, took the race in straight heats but there was plenty of competition among the others for the place and show positions.

Three-year-old trotters return to the North Randall stage today—minus the company of the famed Hambletonian favorite, Volo Song.

The Volomite-sired speedster is recuperating from a cold and was out of the field for the $6,500 championship stallion stake, feature of the Friday program.

Cleveland-owned Adios, last year's two-year-old pacing champion, dashed to a straight victory yesterday in the $2,280 stallion stake for pacers, turning mile heats in 2:01 1-2 and 2:03.

Adios' time for the first mile was a track record, and the best this season in grand circuit, North Randall officials said.

Rupe Parker steered Adios home well ahead of second place King's Counsel, with Doc Parrshall driving. Widow's Pride was third.

Cherry Hill Wins Opener In Softball

After two weeks of hiking, the boys in the grade school softball league have returned to their positions on their respective teams and started their second round of play. The Central team won the first round a few weeks ago.

Thursday, the Cherry Hill and the Rose Avenue softballers met for a regular game and the boys from the Hill won 18-17 after a close game.

Cherry Hill started off the scoring with three runs in the first and two in the second to take the lead 5-0. Then, in the first half of the third, Rose Avenue sent six across the plate to go ahead, 6-5. Another two runs for the Cherry Hill boys then gave them the edge again but not for long. In the next inning, Rose Avenue again came out of their shell to tally up three more for a two run lead. In the fifth, five more sped across home plate to make their lead even larger. However, Cherry Hill made up four of the seven runs in the last of the fifth but were still not able to take the lead. In the sixth, Rose Avenue added another to their mounting score, making it 15. The Cherry Hill boys staged a comeback in the last of the seventh to tie up the score 15-15. Another inning was then played to break the tied score.

Rose Avenue, the first to bat, sent two men around the bases to take the lead 17-15, but the Cherry Hillers, last at bat, scored three to take the lead and the game, 18-17.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, July 16—AP—Selling of rice unsettled grain today, the market again having to contend with disappointment of Price Administrator Prentiss Brown that present ceilings on corn will be maintained. Rice was down more than a cent at times, but losses in wheat were only fractional. Commission houses gave fractional wheat support at $1.44 1/2, steadying the market. Corn reports were favorable and the quality of winter wheat; now superior to that of last year, particularly with regard to moisture content. It was said one more good rain would carry the spring wheat crop in the northwest to maturity.

At the close wheat was 54 1/2¢ lower, July $1.44 1/2, September $1.44 1/2-5/8, oats were off 5/8¢, July 70 1/2¢, and soybeans down 1/4¢, July $1.07.

LAW CLAMPS DOWN ON BLACK MARKETS

WILMINGTON, Del., July 16—(AP)—Eighteen persons and three corporations in six states were indicted by a Federal Grand Jury today in what U. S. Attorney Stewart Lynch described as "the largest blow delivered to date the poultry black market."

The indictment charged the group with conspiracy and paying overreaching prices aggregating more than $11,000 for upward of $350,000 pounds of poultry in Delaware. All the individuals are wholesale buyers.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, July 16—AP—Offerings dried up in today's stock market and a selective recovery shift stiffened prices for steels, rubbers, specialties and scattered utilities and rails. Strengthening bullish sentiment was the persistently good war news from Sicily, Russia and the Far Pacific, together with the Roosevelt-Churchill ultimatum to Italy to capitulate "or else." Inflation thinking was present, notwithstanding revamping of Washington economic controls, and investment demand revived to some extent.

DESERTER-AUTO THIEF TRIES PRISON BREAK

Digs Hole in Wall of the City Prison Before Transfer To Jail

Ray H. Proffitt, Wilton, Kentucky, deserter from the U. S. Army, who stole an automobile in this city and burglarized two farm homes before he was captured while robbing the second home, last Saturday, tried to dig his way out of the women's part of the city prison, and would have succeeded had he not been transferred to the county jail, Thursday, after being held to the grand jury under $2500 bond after pleading guilty to a breaking and entering charge.

The attempted escape was not discovered until after Proffitt was moved, and then Captain Ellis, moving the cot away from the wall in the room where Proffitt had been imprisoned, found a pile of brick and mortar under the cot and a hole in the wall nearly 12 inches across, which had been cut through the outer brick.

Captain Ellis said that a little more work and the opening would have been sufficient to have permitted Proffitt to crawl through to the back of the building, and make his escape unless his attempt had been discovered by accident.

Investigation disclosed that Proffitt had used some wire, a spoon, eight inch piece of steel broken from the cot and a piece of broom handle one foot in length to dig into the wall. Apparently he had reined upon the couch and dug into the wall, moving the couch back to conceal the defaced wall when anyone approached his cell.

The opening was securely cemented to insure security against further attempts at the same point.

Proffitt had been arraigned before Justice George Worrell on the breaking and entering charge and after being held to the grand jury, was transferred to the county jail.

Had he been left in the city jail another night, his escape would have been almost certain. Officers from Ft. Hayes came after him and another deserter, Thursday afternoon, but Proffitt was not released to them for punishment as a deserter. This may be done later, however.

950 JAPS ARE WIPED OUT AS ALLIES CAPTURE MUBO; YANKS DOWN 45 PLANES

lished by American forces who braved the treacherous reefs to land at Nassau Bay on northeast New Guinea, 12 miles down the coast from Salamaua.

A highly secretive operation began at that point. Stealthily these forces, some lugging heavy guns by hand over jungle paths, moved inland along the valley of the Bitoi River toward Mubo's rear.

Today's communique from General MacArthur disclosed that the Americans who moved inland from Nassau Bay joined the Australians July 10 at Buigap Creek, cutting communications and isolating the Japanese on Observation and Green hills.

Observation Hill was overrun after 106 tons of bombs fell among its demoralized defenders in less than 45 minutes from Allied planes. From front and rear, other enemy defenses at Mubo were stormed.

The sky fight over the central Solomons, where the Japanese have expended more than 260 planes since the current offensive started, found the Americans shooting down more planes than they had in the air tackling the 27 enemy bombers and their escort of between 50 and 60 Zeros.

Against the 45 downed, we lost three planes, and our Solomons losses to date are under 50.

In inter-island waters above Munda, one Japanese merchant ship was sunk, a second left aflame, two barges sunk and a third set on fire by roving Mitchell medium bombers.

On the enemy's garrison of Bairoko, supply port for Munda on the Kula Gulf, a heavy force of divebombers poured 1,000 and 2,000 pound bombs yesterday.

The communique today also dis-

OIL IS MOVING IN 'BIG INCH'

Final Welding of the Great Pipe Line Set for Next Monday

Oil is now moving slowly eastward from Norris City, Ill., at the rate of 33 miles daily, in the "big inch" pipe line, and the final welding of the line will take place Monday at Phoenixville, Pa., where government dignitaries will be present to witness the completion.

In the meantime workmen are rushing the job of completing the union of the pipe, difficulty of blasting away the rock in the stream having delayed the work. Oil has been pumped through the line from Longview, Texas, to Norris City, Ill., for several months, and now the oil is moving eastward from Norris City and should reach the east coast within the next three weeks if present plans are carried out.

Finishing touches are being applied to the pumping station in western Pickaway County.

M'CLAIN ESTATE MUST PAY BACK ABOUT $339,000

Hillsboro Judge Decides Unusual Case Filed In 1935

Under a decision handed down by Judge George W. McDowell, in the Hillsboro Common Pleas Court in the cases involving the estates of Arthur E. McClain and Edward Lee McClain, Greenfield brothers, judgment for $339,000 was awarded in connection with the Arthur E. McClain estate and with interest may reach over $1,000,000.

The ownership and disposition of 3,000 shares of the common stock of the American Pad and Textile Company was at issue in the two cases.

Judge McDowell held that under the will of Arthur E. McClain this stock was bequeathed to his niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Walker, but subject to a tripartite agreement of Arthur E. McClain and Charles Mains. Under this agreement American Pad and Textile common stock owned by these three persons could not be sold or bequeathed by any of the three to others than the signers of the agreement until first offered to the other signers at par and accrued earnings, which is the book value of the stock.

After the death of Arthur E. McClain in 1922 his estate was settled intestate and E. L. McClain, as one of the heirs at law, received the 3,000 shares of American Pad and Textile Company as his share in the estate. Later his will, leaving this stock to Mrs. Walker, was probated.

Judge McDowell holds that the estate of Arthur E. McClain is entitled to recover from the estate of E. L. McClain the value of this stock at the time of the death of Arthur E. McClain with interest to date, less deductions of payments made by E. L. McClain to the mother of Mrs. Walker. Judge McDowell requests the parties to the cases to permit him to appoint an expert accountant to determine the amount due. He does not estimate in his decision what this amount will be, but it is understood more than $1,000,000 is involved.

Attorney M. Irwin Dunlap, of Greenfield, administrator of the Arthur McClain estate, filed the suit in 1935, after it was found that three identical wills filed in the Hillsboro Probate Court had been invalid on the grounds that it was not known which was the last will.

During the last eight years the litigation has been in the Probate Court, Common Pleas Court, Court of Appeals and State Supreme Court, with final decision in the Common Pleas Court.
